

WAR CLOUDS EMPHASIZE DAYS LESSON

ORIAL DAY GIVEN NEW SIG-NIFICANCE BY NATION'S PAR-TICIPATION IN WORLD
CONFLICT.

WILSON AT ARLINGTON

President Attends Exercises at National Cemetery.—Big Parade of Soldiers and Veterans at New York.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
New York, May 30.—With a new significance, due to the war, and given added color by the participation of thousands of men in uniform, Memorial day was celebrated in New York
today on a far greater scale than at any time since 1898. Thousands of fighting men and school boys participated in parades.

Bell Reviews Parade.
The main parade, that of the Grand Army of the Republic, soldiers of the nation, state and city, was reviewed
by Major General J. Franklin Bell, U. S.
A. It was estimated that 18,000 marchers were in line.

Another parade, that of the ranks of civil war veterans of Manhattan, and only about 500 of 1,530 left were in today's parade, a few marching on foot and a larger number in carriages.

For the first time, negro national guardsmen were seen in a memorial parade here. They composed the 15th infantry regiment.

Between 40,000 and 50,000 boys of the public school athletic league of the five boroughs of New York. There were seventy floats in this "preparedness parade" showing various sports.

In the Brooklyn parade 25,000
marchers were in line, while 30,000
marched in the Bronx parade.

Along the way were a number of confederate banners, flying for the confederate veterans' reunion here
next week, and the old Union soldiers marched beneath them with no sign of rancor.

Wilson at Arlington.
Washington, D. C., May 30.—President Wilson arranged to attend
the exercises at Arlington this afternoon, but did not count on making an address.

Special pontifical military mass was held at St. Aloysius church by Cardinal Gibbons and attended by Chief Justice White and other members of the supreme court. This was followed by a procession to the Columbia monument, with former Governor Glynn of New York
the chief speaker. Spanish war veterans held services about the Maine monument.

Both houses of congress adjourned
for the day and all government departments were closed.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—War clouds cast a special gravity today over the memorial day exercises here in which President Wilson, Cardinal Gibbons
and many high government officials participated.

Down Pennsylvania avenue and across the Potomac to Arlington National cemetery marched the veterans of two passed wars, at the head of columns of national guardsmen and regulars who may see service in France within a year.

Minneapolis Observances.
Minneapolis, May 30.—Minneapolis
today to the "boys in khaki" as well as the "boys of blue"
in its memorial day ceremony. Hundreds of soldiers from Fort Snelling lead by 1st regiment Minnesota
national guard marched the downtown streets with the comparatively few civil war veterans.

The number of men who fought for the south in the civil war was found with the "boys from the north" for the first time in the city's history.

A Former Confederate.
Richmond, Va., May 30.—The Rev.
Richard Ferguson, a member of the Confederate Memorial day orator today. Formal exercises took place in Hollywood cemetery, where Jefferson Davis is buried. Exercises were held in the Seven Pines National cemetery in which G. A. R. veterans participated.

The cemetery is on the edge of the famous Seven Pines battlefield.

Poles Marched.
Detroit, May 30.—More than 5,000 Polish residents of Detroit, bearing banners denoting allegiance to America's cause, marched in the decoration day parade. When the parade was completed about 100 of them entered.

At Birmingham, Ala.
Birmingham, Ala., May 30.—Memorial day was observed here today by the C. A. R. with confederate veterans and others participating in the exercises.

Mayor's Duty Day Proclamation

In compliance with an act of Congress and the proclamation of the President of the United States, naming the fifth day of June nineteen hundred seventeen as the day in which "All male persons between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, BOTH INCLU-SIVE, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President."

And whereas, His Excellency the Governor, has proclaimed the above named day as "Duty Day," I, Jas. A. Fathers, Mayor, do therefore promulgate and designate the said June fifth as a day in which all citizens—men, women and children—shall assist in every and any manner, as best suits their inclination, to bring about a full registration of all those persons "whom our country has called."

And to that end, I hereby proclaim a half-holiday, from one to six o'clock P. M. and I do hereby enjoin upon the schools, factories, shops and all places of business to cease their labors and join in the exercises to be held at the Court House Park, commencing at two o'clock P. M. Of this let all take notice.

JAS. A. FATHERS,
Mayor.

Summary of War News

There has come such a pronounced pause in the major war activities as to give the impression that preparation for a new phase may be in progress. Only on the Austro-Italian front, where General Cadorna is determinately pushing his campaign for Trieste, is any sustained offensive movement going on.

The great battles in France have come to a halt. Even the German counter attacks have virtually ceased.
The French front, while on the French front they have lessened. The recent pronounced aerial activity also has subsided.

When the next blow is to be delivered can only be surmised. Indications are multiplying that the Germans are looking for some new developments. They have mentioned the Austro-Rumanian front as the place of expected attack. News from the entire side of that front, however,
has not been such as to lead to the belief that an effective stroke could be delivered there at present.

Emperor William, in addressing his troops in northern France recently,
exhorted them to stand fast at hand.
Apparently a renewal of the Franco-British attack, possibly on a larger scale than ever, is anticipated.

GOVERNMENT AGENTS TO KEEP WATCH ON PACIFISTS' MEETING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, May 30.—Federal authorities will have representatives at Madison Square Garden today and tomorrow, while members of the first American conference for democracy
and peace, a pacifist organization, are holding their meetings to consider war problems. Many prominent socialists and pacifists will attend the meeting. The conference will hold six sessions and will listen
to addresses by Maurice Hilguth, Jobe Harriman, Jenkin Lloyd Jones
and others. The conference was called by former socialist congressman,
is expected to attend some of the sessions.

MAKE ALL PLANS TO PROTECT REGISTRARS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Because of rumors of trouble planned for the registration day, Attorney-General Gregory Tuesday instructed United States attorneys and marshals
throughout the country to make certain that registrars are protected from the wildest excesses and that effective legal steps are taken against any who fail or refuse to register.

Despite anti-censorship agitation in many cities, the department of justice officials suspect is German propaganda, the department expected virtually all men between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive.

WAR TAX TO FORCE ADVANCE IN BEER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 30.—The price of beer will be increased when
the proposed war tax goes into effect,
according to the president of a Wisconsin brewery.

It has been reported that the amount of the increase was to be $2
a barrel and 40 cents a case. The increase present is $7.00. The increase will go into effect July 1. Another rumor is that the saloonkeeper who owns his building and who has been getting beer for $5.50 a barrel, will have to pay the same price as the man who rents from a brewery.

U. S. ENGINEERS ARRIVE IN PARIS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Paris, May 30.—The United States
commission of army engineers has arrived in Paris and will be received today by the ministry of war.

CHARITY TO BE WINNER REGARDLESS OF WINNER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Los Angeles, May 30.—Dr. Carl Schultz, representing the naturopath
method of healing, is engaging in a contest here today with Dr. G. L.
Chilka to see whether he can cure typhoid fever faster than it can be cured by the standard means.

NO INDICATION OF MORE RACE RIOTS AT EAST ST. LOUIS

East St. Louis, Ill., May 30.—There was no indication here early today
that the anti-negro riots of Monday
and Tuesday night were to be resumed. A mass meeting of striking employees of the Aluminum Ore company was to have been held tonight
but labor leaders have called it off
for fear it might lead to another outbreak.

The second night of riot reached its climax shortly after ten last night,
after three white men and two negroes had been wounded by bullets,
several negroes beaten, and a half-dozen negro homes burned. It subsided suddenly and at eleven o'clock
the entire city was completely quiet.

Mobs formed quickly last night,
acted quickly and were dispersed quickly. Disturbances began about seven o'clock in the outlying districts and were confined to these sections.

Militia men formed a cordon about
the negro district but the street lights had been shot out, small mobs
formed and clashed with the negroes
at frequent intervals. There was no element, no noise. The mob formed and moved quickly in order to evade
the soldiers and policemen.

4,000 VARSITY MEN SIGN DRAFT CARDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., May 30.—Over four thousand students reported to their advisors today to sign the war draft registration cards. The cards with all their information will be used by the State Council of Defense in their efforts to secure the co-operation of all university students in the war.

The students who signed these cards incur no obligation as to working but acts as an aid to securing their employment if the desire it.
It is the desire of the university
however, that everyone who can work
this summer at some form of productive labor. The students were given a choice of three kinds of work they would like to pursue. It will then be up to the State Council of Defense to secure the places for the large number of willing students.

Not only the men were enlisted in the service, but all the women students registered. Cards were distributed previous to the registration
day listing the forms of work for both men and women so that everyone can have his own choice. The Council of Defense asks that all women give their best efforts to the aiding in the housework on the farms of the country.

Budgets will be given to all who enlist in the war service. They are made of bronze, shaped like the shield of the United States government, and have of words "University War Service" stamped on the face.

AGREE TO POSTPONE STOCKHOLM MEETING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Amsterdam, via London, May 30.—
According to news received by Dutch delegates at Stockholm the meeting of the League of Nations, postponed until July 15, possibly later. All depends on the arrival of the French and Italian delegates.

MOTORCYCLE COP IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Milwaukee, May 30.—George Pasik, aged 34, single, a deputy sheriff of the motorcycle squad, was accidentally killed today, the result of running into a street car while chasing an automobile speeder.

Pasik, in order to pass other vehicles, steered his machine to the wrong side when the accident occurred.

TO PROBE KILLING OF ARIZONA MINERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Jerome, Ariz., May 30.—An investigation was begun here today of the killing last night of two men and the wounding of two others, one probably fatally, by employees of the United Mine. One of those affected by the strike of the Union Copper Miners,
called last Thursday night.

The four men with forty or fifty other mine employees had rushed out of the mine in response to a fire alarm, and were running along a narrow path, when they were met with a fusillade of shots.

CONGRESS LEADERS SUMMARIZE PROGRESS ON WAR MEASURES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, May 30.—Congress
was not in session today, but leaders
took the opportunity to survey progress on war measures.

Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee, in a conference with treasury officials, pointed out that the principal question of the war revenue bill yet to be determined relates to the administration of proposed automobile license taxes, excise taxes on coffee and tea, higher second class postal rates and taxes on public utilities.

Secretary McAdoo is urging the committee to report out a bill carrying about $1,800,000,000 as provided in the house measure, but the committee's sentiment apparently is for a reducing it to about $1,500,000,000,
the difference to be raised by short term bonds.

Conferees of the senate and house
on the $3,450,000,000 war budget bill today still had further changes to consider, notably the provision to regulate the acquisition of an American merchant marine, for which $750,000, 000 is authorized.

The administration food survey and production bill will be taken up again tomorrow in the senate. The bill is the house substitute for the measure
the senate has been considering.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL IN CONGRESS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, May 30.—"Daylight saving" legislation requiring all time pieces to be set forward one hour
during the summer months is expected to come before the senate in a few weeks. The commerce committee has filed a favorable report on the bill of Senator Aldrich of New York providing for the reform.

In view of the increased food production which will be brought about under the bill, says the report, "the comfort and convenience it will bring to laborers and the public generally and saving of expenses, especially relating to light and fuel, it is believed by our committee, that the measure
should be enacted."

That the legislation should not go into effect until next year is recommended. The change in timepieces would be in effect from the last Sunday in April until that in September.

SOAKING RAIN HALTS FIRES IN MINNESOTA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Duluth, Minn., May 30.—A soaking
rain fell all of last night, effectively
wetting down forest and brush fires
that have burned intermittently for weeks in this part of Minnesota. The rain is reported general over the north. However, bad fires apparently continue near the Canadian line. A message sent out last night from international falls on the border, said:

BERLIN, WIS., PLANS TO CHANGE ITS NAME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Berlin, Wis., May 30.—Citizens of this city are seriously considering changing the name of the town on account of the fact that the name is used by the German government in the ocean. While there are dozens of cities in the United States bearing the same name, this is the first, so far as known, to be changed. The name change the name has assumed definite shape.

A campaign has been launched by a local paper to shape sentiment for a name change. The Indiana school board said to be favorably considered by many citizens, this being the name of the tribe of Indians who first located the town site.

FIVE PER CENT TAX ON UTILITY SERVICE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Further changes in the house war tax bill
were made today by the senate finance committee including a tax of five per cent on gas, electric light and telephone service and on all forms of insurance; imposition of increased taxes of sixty per cent instead of 100 per cent on all tobacco products, and addition of an excise tax of one-half cent on sugar and three cents on cocoa.

UP STATE BANISHES HORSE FOR FARM TRACTOR ENGINE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Ashland, Wis., May 30.—Practically every farm of size in northern Wisconsin is now equipped with a gasoline tractor instead of horses to do heavy work. It was stated here today by C. P. Post, agricultural agent, it is claimed that when in an outdoor operation, plowing, discing
and dragging fields is more easily and more quickly accomplished with tractor power than with horse power.

KAISER SAYS DECISION IS NEAR AT HAND

GERMAN EMPEROR ADDRESSES
DELEGATIONS OF HIS TROOPS
FROM ARRAS FRONT.

ITALIANS ADVANCING

Further Gains on Trieste Are Reported in Today's Statement—Minor Activity in France.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Copenhagen, via London, May 30.—
The correspondent of the Berlin Tagblatt reports Emperor William during his recent visit to the Arras line, addressed delegations from the troops
fighting on the Aisne.

He thanked them with evident emotion for their heroism in meeting the French attacks and said:
"The decision lies near at hand.
You will turn it in our favor as you have on every previous occasion, because you realize what you are fighting for—the future of your children
and grand-children."

Watching Air Forces.
Amsterdam, via London, May 30.—
Emperor William, in his recent speech to soldiers on the Arras front, is quoted
by the Tagblatt as saying:
"We are especially watching over head to frustrate enemy attack."

Rome, via London, May 30.—Further gains by Italians on the Trieste
front are announced in today's official statement. The Italian line have been extended west of Montebelluna.

Artillery Fighting.
Paris, May 30.—Violent artillery fire occurred on the French front between St. Quentin and the night
according to an official statement issued today by French war office. A German attack on Mont Blond in the Champagne was repulsed, the Germans leaving dead and wounded on the field.

British Repulse Raids.
London, May 30.—Hostile raiding parties were repulsed last night near the English coast. The raid was west of South of Neve Chapelle, our patrols entered the enemy's trenches and inflicted casualties. Nothing else of special interest occurred.

DOCTORS IN SERVICE WILL RECEIVE FEES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Pittsburgh, May 30.—Pittsburgh
doctors who enter military service
are to receive thirty-five per cent of the income of their private practice
while they are absent, the work being done by doctors who remain at home.
This announcement was made today
by the National Medical Council of the National Defense of Allegheny county. About 200 doctors of this district have applied for commissions.

The council will open a clearing house and the practice of any doctor
in service will be assigned to other doctors. Patients will be charged the regular fee, 25 per cent of which will go to the military doctors, 10 per cent to maintain the clearing house, and 60 per cent to the doctor doing the work. All bills will be payable to the clearing house.

EACH MAN WILL BUY $100 LIBERTY BOND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Watertown, N. Y., May 30.—Every man at Watertown barracks training camp will take one $100 Liberty loan bond. This limit was placed with the understanding that all the 2,500 students would subscribe.

ITALIAN MISSION TO TOUR MID-WEST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, D. C., May 30.—The Prince of Udine and other members of the Italian war mission will leave Washington next Monday, June 4, on a trip through the south and middle west, going to first to Atlanta.

U. S. NAVY DIRIGIBLE MAKES FAST FLIGHT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, May 30.—The first dirigible balloon being built for the navy much after the pattern of the British "blimps" made a successful flight yesterday from Chicago to Akron. O. Leaving Chicago at noon she landed without mishap at Akron
about five p. m. flying an airline distance of about 500 miles.

ANTI-WHISKEY BILL MEETS ITS FATE IN SENATE COMMITTEE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., May 30.—Governor Phillips' anti-whiskey bill met its fate before the senate committee on legislative procedure Tuesday afternoon, when the committee recommended that the measure be not introduced. The bill had been modified to make it less stringent than suggested in the message vetoing the Elysbill. It provided for the sale of beer
of four per cent alcohol, and for twenty per cent wine. The original suggestion of the governor was three per cent beer and ten per cent wine.

The judiciary committee recommended the bill for introduction with Senators Benney and Jennings in opposition. Under the rules of the senate the bill then went to the committee on legislative procedure, where it was here that an unfavorable report was made. Members of the committee argued that such a bill would prolong the session of the legislature six weeks.

A report will be made by the senate committee on legislative procedure to the senate on Thursday. Whether the bill will eventually be introduced or not is problematical. The general opinion is that the bill is dead
for the session.

Whether the governor will ask that the bill be introduced by the legislature is still a question. This part provided that persons violating the liquor laws of the state in conducting saloons should never be eligible for a license in Wisconsin.

DESTRUCTION WORK DETAILED IN DIARY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

With the French Army, May 30.—
The destruction of trees, farms, villages and all personal property as well as railways, roads, bridges and communications belonging to the state,
now comprises nearly half the "duty"
of a German soldier fighting in France
as compared with the usually recognized military duties of a soldier.

Some idea of the magnitude of this duty as compared with the regular military duty of a soldier can be formed from the following diary of a German soldier just taken prisoner in France.

"Feb. 9.—Arrived at Laon at 7 in the morning. Marched till 5 1-2 to the farm of N. Reposed at the farm.
Feb. 21.—Exercised and pay day.
Feb. 23.—Loaded iron on the narrow gauge railway.
Feb. 24.—Destroyed houses and chopped down trees.
Feb. 25.—Sunday. Morning repose; afternoon, loaded materials in iron.
Feb. 26.—Marched from Monte-couve to Sorny.
Feb. 27.—Chopped down trees.
Feb. 28.—Destruction of forests.
March 1.—Destruction of forests
in heavy rain.
March 2.—We began the new position.
March 3 to 9.—Intrenching near Vaurallion.
March 13.—Morning repose; afternoon, demolishing houses."

The entries of Feb. 23 and 25 relative to the loading of iron on the narrow gauge railway, were made to have reference to the carrying away
of all railway rails and iron of every description.

AMERICAN COLORS FLY IN ST. PAUL'S

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

London, May 30.—It was like another America day at St. Paul's today, when the colors of the American legation on the Canadian contingents
were placed on the altar to remain there until after the war. There were five flags—one from each battalion—the 7th, 11th, 21st, 23rd,
and the 25th. The altar was draped
by five hundred Canadian soldiers.

As the troops passed up the central aisle, the crowd, which filled the edifice, sang the "Star Spangled Banner"
and later, "Onward Christian Soldiers." At conclusion of the service, the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung for the last time. The service was attended by Ambassador Page, high officers of the Canadian forces, and physicians and nurses from American Red Cross units.

RED CROSS TO RAISE A MILLION IN STATE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 30.—The American Red Cross society has announced that it will launch a cam-

You Should Drink More Milk

The more good milk you drink the more it makes for a balanced diet. Good milk contains everything required to build healthy bodies, and is rich in the vital mineral salts needed for red blood and sound teeth. Much of the food on your table is refined to the point of being foodless. Milk helps to make up these deficiencies which exist chiefly in the diet of growing children.

WHITEWATER WOMEN MADE BATTLE FLAG IN CIVIL WAR DAYS

Mrs. Martin Gosa of Palmyra, Owns Banner Carried Through War by Co. A., 4th Wis. Cavalry.

A flag that was carried all through the years of the civil war by a gallant company of Wisconsin soldiers is in the possession of Mrs. Martin Gosa of Palmyra, Wis.

It was the honored banner of Company A, Fourth Wisconsin Cavalry, which was organized in Milwaukee, Wis., in April, 1861 and was one of the first of the thousands of volunteer companies that responded so freely and promptly to the call of "Father Lincoln" for the defense of their country.

The Fourth Wisconsin started out as a regiment of infantry and Company A was under the command of Captain C. E. Curtis, a brave and honored soldier.

The women of Whitewater then, as now and always, full of patriotic zeal, made a beautiful flag of silk for their beloved soldier boys to carry with them and cheer them on their long, dreary marches.

The red and white stripes were made of separate strips of silk sewed together by hand, and the stars were filled. The stars were cut out of white silk and sewed by hand onto the field of blue; the whole making a beautiful banner, token and anxiety of the dear ones at home, and a fitting emblem of the country for which both the men who went and the women who stayed at home were giving.

During the progress of the war the Fourth Wisconsin was changed from infantry to cavalry. Captain Curtis resigned and the command was given to one who enlisted as a private and endured the hardships and privations of his comrades not only during the four years of the war but for nearly a year afterward in Milwaukee, where he remained until he was discharged on the Mexican border, and returned home, bearing the loved banner with him.

This was the late Captain Charles W. Steele, who resided in Rock county at the time of his enlistment, who, before his departure from this earth, gave his treasured memento of those stirring years of his life with the army to his daughter, who now has it for safe keeping.

The flag is torn and faded now, but who can look upon the folds without a thrill of love and pride, and reverence for the men who made it and lovingly gave it into the keeping of the little company, to be faithfully and loyally defended, as well as for the men, only a few of whom are left, who have accepted the trust and brought the banner back to be forever treasured by their children and their children's children.

It did not add to the safety and welfare of our country if parents and teachers all over our land would take more pains to instill into the hearts and minds of our young people more of the true meaning and significance of epoch-making periods in our history, and more regard for the flag because of the principles of liberty and equality for which it stands?

It is the custom of allowing the emblem of our country to be used on packages of tobacco and other commodities as a trademark; its use as an ornament on jewelry, and its use on a table cover, or a common everyday drapery, is not conducive to reverence for it; but the education of our youth should be such that they will tolerate such degradation of the flag.

Even flying the flag over a school house every day, as is required by the laws of some states, tends to make the flag a thing of no more value than those days which have special significance in the history of our country, especially if the pupils of those days and then were required to salute the flag each time it was raised to the breeze.

No one, not even a child, could use Memorial day or Independence day or Thanksgiving day merely for sports if he truly realized the sacrifice and bloodshed for which these Memorial days stand, the lofty purpose and high ideals which inaugurated Independence day, or the humility of spirit and recognition of a divine Providence which prompted the observance of the first Thanksgiving day.

If the crisis in which our country now finds itself helps us to a better realization of what true patriotism means and brings us back to a proper reverence for our country's flag and the ideals for which it stands, something at least will have been accomplished. But if it means throwing the power of our young manhood into the hands of Europe, what a price to pay for a lesson that a Christian nation should learn in a Christian way.

WHOLE ALLIED WORLD BOWS WITH AMERICA IN MEMORIAM TODAY

With a solemnity born of the knowledge that Americans will soon be laying down their lives again in the cause of freedom, Memorial Day was observed, not only in the lands of our allies across the seas today.

While millions of men in this country were preparing to register for service in the greatest of all wars with the rush and drive of hurried preparation for battle everywhere apparent, the veterans of '61-'65 paraded their dwindling ranks for another march behind the shrieking fire and the rattling drum.

And as this ghost of America's army of half a century ago passed in review, a new army, of young men who were babies when the soldiers were old, was getting ready to carry on the same message of liberty that was carried by Lincoln's hosts.

Cables from London brought word of the Memorial Day celebration on the battle front of France, where many Americans have already made the supreme sacrifice. The spirit of the day there included all the soldiers, the men of the light and democracy.

Flags of the allied nations were placed on many of their graves. On hundreds of rude trench tombs, where British and American soldiers and officers and Frenchmen and Americans in French uniforms lay buried, the Stars and Stripes fluttered today. There were special observances in London.

President Wilson went to Arlington National cemetery, at the request of the G. A. R., to make the most important Memorial address in the United States.

In addition to the parades of veterans—most of them very short—there were processions of troops, Boy Scouts and patriotic organizations in American exercises were confined to quiet gatherings, as the old men were not strong enough to attempt anything more strenuous.

They played a big part in the day's programs. In New York school-boy athletes marched, and 3,000 miles away, near Astoria, Or., Boy Scouts of the American flag on Saddle Mountain, a newly acquired state reserve. Scores of similar demonstrations took place in all parts of the country.

ORDINATION SERVICE THURSDAY EVENING

William Fulton Will be Ordained a Presbyterian Minister in Exercises at Local Church.

At a public service at seven-thirty o'clock Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian church, William Fulton, a former resident of this city, will be ordained a Presbyterian minister.

The Reverend J. T. Morley will be the moderator to preside. The Reverend G. L. Robinson of McCormick Seminary, will conduct the service.

Reverend E. C. Henke will make the ordination prayer. The Reverend G. E. Hunt of Madison will give the charge to the candidate.

He is a member of the Janesville church and is a graduate of McCormick Seminary. He has many friends in this city who will be pleased to accept the opportunity of his presence in the service. Special music will be furnished by the church choir for the exercises. All members of the congregation and friends are invited to attend.

RURAL SCHOOL GRADUATES TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

The list of rural school students who will receive diplomas at the county graduation exercises next month will be about one hundred.

The force at the county superintendent's office is busy with the grades and will have the standings averaged within a few days. It is expected that the list will be ready to be printed and distributed to the graduates this year. About five hundred took the examinations. Reason for the small percentage of graduates is the fact that many of those who wrote were challenged by one or two subjects. If they receive passing marks in these they will not be required to take examinations in the subjects next year.

FEAR A SHORTAGE OF REGISTRATION CARDS

Supplies on Basis of Fourteen Percent of Population Insufficient, Beloit Men Claim.

Registrars in several Beloit precincts have informed county officials in charge of the distribution of the government registration cards and supplies, that not enough blanks have been sent out to sign up the men eligible for selective conscription in their districts. The law provides that registration cards should be furnished on a basis of fourteen percent of the population of each precinct. In several of the Beloit precincts, however, there is a much larger percentage of young men of the draft ages who are employed in the large manufacturing plants. Efforts will be made to secure more registration cards for these places. Arrangements will also be necessary for interpreters in several Beloit precincts, because of the large population of Italians, Greeks and other foreign born; all of whom are required to register regardless of the fact that they may or may not be United States citizens.

Timely Garden Hints

Still Time to Plant Certain Vegetables in This Section.

It is not too late to plant cabbage, lettuce, onion sets or hot bed plants, onion seed, beans, egg plant, peppers, peas, parsley, celery, carrots, turnips, radishes, leeks, tomato plants, lima beans, radishes, spinach, beets, parsnips, corn, potatoes, sweet potatoes.

There is still time to plant all the garden crops in this section (marked Zone D on the department's zone planting map for vegetables), even if you have not already plowed your garden. Ask specialists at the United States department of agriculture.

If you start at once there is still time to make two plantings of peas at intervals of ten days, and you all have peas for at least a month after they come into bearing. Beans, beets, brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, corn, lettuce, leeks, onions, parsnips, parsley, peas, potatoes, radishes, fifty, spinach and tomato plants should all be planted at once.

Tomato plants may be set now. Lima beans, both pole and bush, should be planted now. The best time to plant such crops as peppers, eggplant, muskmelons, watermelons, squash and cucumbers should not be set or planted until the weather is warm and soil well warmed up. Planting may be done on light warm soils at least a week sooner than on heavy soils in frosty pockets, hence the gardener must be guided in making plans for the location and character of his soil.

There is, of course, considerable variation in the region for which this advice is given. Certain plantings in the southern portion of the region a week or so before similar activities should be gotten under way fifty or one hundred miles further north. The advice is based on the average latest frost dates in the section, and the variations in weather conditions from year to year also may influence planting periods.

The following cultural suggestions are made for the crops which may be planted now with good chances of success throughout most of the zone. There is time to make two successive plantings ten days apart. Plant in rows three or four feet apart for horse cultivation and two and a half feet apart for hand cultivation. Space the seed about one inch apart in the rows. A pint of seed is sufficient for a hundred-foot row.

Carrots: Carrots may be planted now. Sow the seed in rows fifteen to eighteen inches apart for hand cultivation, or two to two and a half feet apart for horse cultivation. The plants should be thinned to three or four inches apart in the rows. One ounce of seed is sufficient for a hundred-foot row.

Lettuce: Sow the seed in rows fifteen to eighteen inches apart. Thin the plants until they stand six to ten inches apart. The young plants may be used for salad. A half ounce of seed is sufficient for a hundred-foot row.

Onions: It is best to use the sets or seedlings grown in hotbeds rather than the seeds. Place the sets or plants in rows fifteen to eighteen inches apart and from three to four inches in the rows. One quart of sets is sufficient for a hundred-foot row.

Parsnips: The rows may be as close as fifteen inches apart. Sow the seed in rows fifteen to eighteen inches apart for hand cultivation. Give the soil one-half ounce of seed is ample for a hundred foot row. Thin the plants until they stand three to four inches apart in the rows. Sow the seed in rows twelve to fifteen inches apart for hand cultivation. Have the soil fine. One ounce of seed is enough for a hundred foot row.

Spinach: For hand cultivation sow in rows 15 to 18 inches apart. The plants should stand one to two inches apart in the rows.

Salsify: Sow the seed in rows twelve to fifteen inches apart. Scatter the seed thinly in drills and cover about one inch.

Brussels Sprouts: Brussels sprouts may be planted in the garden where they are to grow or in a seed bed for transplanting. They should be grown in rows at least two feet apart and about an equal distance between the rows. The sprouts will not appear until late fall.

Parsley: Parsley is sown in drills. A single drill a few feet in length will be sufficient for a family.

Leeks: Leeks are planted like onion seed in drills from fifteen inches to two feet apart for hand cultivation, or two and a half feet apart for horse cultivation. The plants should be thinned to about four inches apart in the rows.

Beans, string: Plant in rows two and one-half feet apart for horse and one-half foot apart for hand cultivation, and three to four inches apart in the rows. A pint of seed is sufficient for a hundred-foot row.

Corn: Plant closely in drills three feet apart and from three to four inches in the rows. If preferred, a dozen seeds may be planted in hills three feet each way, and the plants thinned to four each hill. Corn should be planted in well-prepared rich land.

Potatoes: Plant pieces containing one or two eyes, 12 to 14 inches apart in rows 2 1/2 to 3 feet apart and cover with soil to a depth of six inches. Tomatoes: Set the plants (purchased or grown early in hot beds), 18 inches apart in rows 3 to 4 feet apart. If they are to be pruned or staked, if they are to be on the ground, the distance should be four feet between rows and three feet in the rows. Pruning to the first few stalks are desirable in the garden.

Eggplants: Set the plants 18 to 24 inches apart in rows 2 1/2 to 3 feet apart. A dozen good, healthy plants will produce enough fruit for the average sized family.

Peppers: Set the plants 15 to 18 inches apart in rows 1 1/2 to 3 feet apart. A dozen plants should be sufficient for a family.

Sweet potatoes: It is desirable to have a row or two of sweet potatoes in the home garden. Set the plants in ridges four to five feet apart. Space the plants fourteen to eighteen inches apart. About seventy-five plants will be required for a hundred foot row.

Lima beans, Pole: Plant in hills three to four feet apart for horse and one-half foot apart for hand cultivation. A half pint of seed is sufficient for a hundred foot row.

SAFE FARMING

KNOW THAT YOUR SEED CORN WILL GROW

By P. G. HOLDEN.

WE MUST not plant poor seed corn this spring. It means too much to us and to humanity everywhere.

Poor seed means a poor stand. It means that a portion of the field will remain idle and unproductive. It means that the yield of corn will be far short of what it should be. It means lost energy and wasted labor. It means that we must cultivate the missing hills, the one-stalk hills and the poor, worthless stalks and receive nothing in return.

Every year thousands of people work more than a third of every day on ground that produces nothing.

The average yield of corn in the United States in 1916 was 24.4 bushels to the acre. The average yield in Iowa, the greatest corn state in the Union, was 36.5 bushels. Yet there are thousands of farmers who grow 60 or 70, and even 80 or 90 bushels to the acre.

In the Corn Belt it is customary to plant three kernels of corn to the hill. If two of the stalks in the hill bore nothing and the third stalk grew a very small ear, weighing only eight ounces, the yield per acre would be 26 bushels, more than the average last year in the United States.

If we can make two of these stalks produce at least an eight ounce ear, each, the yield will be 52 bushels to the acre. If this had been accomplished in every corn field last year, the increase in production would have been more than 2,000,000,000 bushels.

Carelessness Expensive.

At 80 cents a bushel, the average price per bushel for corn on the farms in December, 1916, the total increase in value would have been over $2,640,000,000. This is a tremendous price to pay for carelessness.

Poor seed is the chief cause of a poor stand and a poor stand means a small yield.

There is nothing else that will do so much to increase the yield of corn on every farm as the making of a germination test of six or eight kernels from each ear to be used as seed and discarding those ears which show weak or sickly roots or stem sprouts. The most common mistake is to conclude that we can judge the germinating power of seed corn by looking at it and that it does not need testing.

A few days spent during March in selecting and testing our seed corn may be worth more to us at harvest time than a whole year's hard work.

It is nothing more nor less than good business for us to know that the seed we put into the ground will grow. And the only way we can tell good seed is by testing it.

One man in two days can test enough corn to plant 40 acres of ground. Testing will not cost to exceed 10 cents an acre. Yet, because it is "too much bother" to test corn, we pick out 600 ears, look at them, guess that they will grow and plant them. As a consequence more than 12 acres out of every 40 planted to corn in the average Corn Belt state produce nothing.

Requires Little Time.

Testing does not hurt the corn. It requires but little time, and that at a season of the year when we have little to do. By testing we have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

There are several methods of testing corn, but the limitations of this article will not permit of a description of any of them. Any county agent, any agricultural college or any good farmer will be glad to tell his neighbor how to test seed corn.

After the corn has been tested, sorted, shelled and graded for the planter and the bad kernels removed, it should be placed in half-bushel sacks and hung up in a dry place. We should put in a sack, separate from the rest, the seed from the best 100 ears. When planting, we should use the seed from these "best 100 ears" on one side of the field and pick our seed corn from these rows next year.

If we have no good seed corn we should buy from our neighbors or someone in the community. We should not import seed corn from outside our immediate vicinity. Thousands of individual ear tests prove that home-grown seed will yield, on an average, from 8 to 20 bushels of corn more to the acre than will imported seed. The best plan is to grow our own seed and test every ear intended for planting.

HOME RULE LOOMS FOR IRELAND AFTER CENTURY OF AGITATION

Map of Ireland, showing island's four grand divisions; anti-home rule demonstration at Dublin; Sir Edward Carson (above); Baron Shaughnessy, John Redmond and William O'Brien (below, left to right).

After a century of agitation, Ireland sees home rule at last, providing the different elements of her population can agree among themselves. A plan of government will be worked out at a coming convention, which may be presided over by Baron Shaughnessy, the noted Canadian railway man. John Redmond and William O'Brien, the Nationalist leaders, will be prominent figures at the meeting. The part to be played by Sir Edward Carson, leader of the anti-home rule Ulstermen, is doubtful. The fact that he is a member of the present government may have some bearing on his actions.

Poster Used in Red Cross Campaign

One of the American Red Cross posters just issued in nation-wide campaign.

The Red Cross is in the midst of a nation-wide campaign for new members and funds, and this poster has just been issued in furtherance of the campaign. All war relief work is rapidly centering in the Red Cross, the idea being to eliminate waste of effort.

His Own Fault.

The old miser in the story who dropped a five dollar gold piece in the plate at church, mistaking it for a nickel, could get no great satisfaction out of the deed, as will be recalled, but he was not the man to give up easily.

Accordingly he sought legal advice with a view of instituting a suit at law. But the lawyer whom he consulted was one of those rare and gifted souls who would much rather be witty than rich—or almost anything else for that matter.

"Sir," said he at once, "you have no case. You were guilty of contributory negligence."—Exchange.

Fixing the Sheriff.

Ephraim got into trouble in Waco county and beat the sheriff over the line by about three jumps. He migrated to a distant part of the state and, seeking a livelihood, turned to preaching. He prospered in the new community, which knew nothing of his past in Waco. Then, one night at camp meeting, Ephraim looked from the platform into the eyes of a man in a front row. The new arrival was not a stranger. He was from Waco county. Ephraim led through the singing and then the time for the preaching came. He mopped his brow and began: "Brethren, Ah was going to preach dis evening on a text out er de Ol' Testament. But it's done put in mah min to change. An' dis is de text now from Romans"—he pointed at the stranger with a meaning finger: "Ef ye know me, doan' say nuthin', an' Ah'll see ye afterward!"—Cleveland Leader.

Importance of the Beard.

The importance of the beard was fully recognized in the middle ages. Here is a passage (quoted by J. A. F. Orban in "Sixteenth Century") from a letter of the writer, Bartolomeo Catena: "It is well that those who have to lead and govern should have a long and fine beard. And I can assure you that the government of cities and provinces has been given to more than one prelate because he had a long and fine beard; otherwise he were not worthy that honor."

LAPS

Laps are used for holding babies, socks, apples, hickory nuts, dogs, potatoes, coffee grinders, photograph albums, and intimate friends and relatives.

Everybody, at times, has a lap, though laps are, by nature, transitory. Laps come and go. Still, almost anyone, skilled or unskilled, can, with the aid of a chair, arrange themselves into more or less of a lap in an instant's time. Upon standing up again, however, the lap will entirely disappear. It is not known what becomes of laps when people stand up.

The physiological and anatomical text-books do not speak of the lap, though the lap is closely related to anatomy and is a vital and, on certain occasions, necessary, not to say inevitable, part of the human body.

There are round laps, angular laps, snug laps, slippery laps, bushel laps, motherly laps, fatherly laps, and laps that leak anything that is put into them.

Babies are the best judges of laps and can sense the friendliest lap in a whole room full without the slightest hesitation.

The housewife finds the lap a useful culinary adjunct, and employs it advantageously throughout the whole house, utilizing it as a wheelbarrow or workbench as occasion demands.

Blacksmiths and cobblers make a living with their laps. Blacksmiths hold a horse in their laps while nailing on a shoe.

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Enid Bennett, Olive Thomas and Sylvia Bremer are three stars who have formed a class for instruction in nursing and have engaged a prominent surgeon of Los Angeles as teacher. The girls are devoting an hour each day to practical hospital work and will be in training for a month, when they expect to be fit for field service.

WOMEN FAIL AS FILM AGENTS

The selling forces of the Vitaphone company have been depleted nearly 50 per cent, the management says, owing to the rush of the men to join the colors. Vitaphone claims to lead the film world in the matter of former employees in federal service. Indeed, this situation made way for the hiring of women salesagents. They were tried as experiments but were dismissed after two weeks on the ground "They wouldn't attempt to land contracts for any pictures except their screen idols," laments the big boss.

DARIEN

Darien, May 29.—Miss Gertrude Lawson returned to Delavan, Monday, after school closes. Friday when she will hold a picnic at Turtle Lake.

John McGrath of Chicago spent yesterday and today in town visiting friends.

Philip Matteson, Raymond Wheeler and La Verne Wheeler decided they would like to see the country so they left their homes Sunday on a freight train going to Chicago. The latter two returned today, thinking home was better than tramping. Philip Matteson went to Beloit to work.

Mrs. E. F. Welch underwent a successful operation at the Delavan district Saturday with a picnic in the Garden-er woods.

Mrs. Adelaide Rice of Delavan was a recent visitor at R. Tarrant's.

Mrs. Nettle Clowes went to Delavan, Monday, to spend a couple of weeks at Rice's sanitarium. Her many friends wish for a speedy recovery.

Chinese Industry Revived.

Chinese manufacturers of vegetable dyes have been induced to revive the manufacture of that product which had been almost wholly suspended. The higher prices being paid for these dyes at present is said to have made possible the organization of the business on sounder economic principles.

Large quantities of the dyes have already been shipped to the United Kingdom, where they are said to be giving satisfaction. There is practically no limit to the supply, provided the price paid is commensurate with the cost of production. In Japan, before the introduction of mineral dyes, there were probably more different vegetable dyes used than in any other part of the world. Few of the dyes, however, were strictly fast, and the only thoroughly dependable black was the one made in the Kyoto district and used largely in dyeing the haori, the short, jacket-like garment worn by the Japanese men and women alike. The vegetable dyes were long ago supplanted by mineral ones, but existing circumstances are said by American Industries to be forcing a return to the older dyes.

A Monkey and a Knot.

The monkey's intelligence has never been able to arrive at a point which enables that animal to achieve the untiring of a knot. You may tie a monkey with a cord fastened with the simplest form of common knot, and unless the beast can break the string or gnaw it in two he will never get loose. To untie the knot requires observation and reasoning power, and, though a monkey may possess both, he has neither in a sufficient degree to enable him to overcome the difficulty.

A popular soprano is said to have a voice of fine timbre, a willowy figure, cherry lips, chestnut hair and hazel eyes. She must have been raised in the lumber regions.

A man isn't necessarily a coward because he is afraid to argue with a woman. He may merely have good sense.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) When we have gentlemen company would you please tell us how to entertain them as we cannot play the piano or organ?

(2) If you have a boy's been in a boy's company long and he asks you to go with him to church five miles from your home, would it be proper to go? (3) Would it be proper for a girl to answer a boy's letter if she has not seen him more than once and she does not know whether he is or not since she has not seen him find out, should she write him some of his belongings which she has? Should she return them if he hasn't returned hers? What should she tell him if she wants him? Should she return his belongings by mail?

(4) Try to be interesting talkers and encourage the boys to talk. If you are good conversationalists the boys will have a good time. You might also make candy once in a while. If the boys want any further entertainment let them take you somewhere.

(5) Since you are only fourteen years old, it would not be proper to go at night.

(6) You are too young to correspond with the boys and too young to be thinking and talking about "love at first sight."

(7) She should mail the boy's belongings to him and at the same time write a note requesting that he return hers. The note should not ask for anything.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

TWO OLD WOMEN

Following a talk to an organization of women from home, I was sorely embarrassed recently by a woman who was assisted forward by her daughter. The woman spoke in the feeble voice of age, thanking me for some suggestions I had given her in a letter. She stated that just like a woman she had stated in detail, all excepting the detail of age. I had suggested that she turn a few somersaults every morning and evening. Well, anyway, she felt comfortable and wanted to thank me for the advice. Blushes.

But another old woman came to the rescue. This other old woman was a sight for embarrassed eyes. She called herself an old woman. No one would have suspected it otherwise. She looked so youthful and lovely that I experienced that natural embarrassment of the eternal boy when the eternal girl looks him in the eye. She also wanted to thank me for some advice she had received in a letter. She had succeeded in reducing. I don't know how many pounds, but enough to make her happy. She proudly declared that she turned her half dozen somersaults religiously every morning, faithfully followed the Bread and Milk Club rules, and never enjoyed such fine health and spirits as now. Of course I didn't ask the lady how old she was. It didn't matter. The important thing was that she didn't look it. But she volunteered the information, and it was a revelation.

Nothing seems so foolish to the average human being as turning somersaults for the sake of health. People generally consider such advice a joke. Well, good health is a joke. It is the most amazing thing in the world. There is always a chuckle coming when good health is epidemic at your home.

A great many minor ills have their origin in intestinal stasis and the auto-intoxication resulting therefrom. A great many others are due to an inactive circulation. An active, sized bunch of minor ailments added together will make a regular ailment. Turning somersaults takes the food out of the corner pockets, stirs up a sluggish circulation and sort of surprises the weary old liver. It certainly disturbs the serenity of a stagnant blood reservoir, that great pool of blood which our upright posture keeps more or less stagnant in the recesses of the thorax. It stresses the diaphragm, squeezes the splanchnic masses the gall-sac and raises a huge commotion along the receptacle of the liver.

For that chronic tired feeling, cold feet, torpid liver, sallow complexion, fermentative dyspepsia, melancholia, "acid stomach," heart burn, "gas," bad taste in the mouth and sour disposition, try turning half a dozen somersaults every night and morning. Stick to it for a month, and then write and tell me how much good it has done.

Speaking of the splanchnic reservoir, some eminent author has written a whole book about what he calls "splanchnic neurasthenia, or the blues." All I know about it is that when you turn these four somersaults you always come up smiling.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Plea Very Easily Granted.

I wish to make a plea to you in behalf of a baby brought up this far by Dr. Brady. How can I increase the supply of breast milk without increasing my weight? (Mrs. W. M.)

Answer—Take two miles of exercise three times a day on the hoof. Put the baby on the porch in his basket while you are taking the medicine. Machine Learning Lesson.

I am a 6-foot tall, weight 250. I work hard as a machinist. I finally got up courage to skip the noonday meal, and I just want to tell you that I have gotten rid of that chronic tired or dopy feeling, no longer feel sluggish, as I always did when stowing in three meals a day.

Answer—Keep at the lesson. You will learn more as you grow lighter.

Hearty of the thing that is so galling. "Did you think to look for George Eleanor after the director?" asked. "Yes, there is no such name to be found. I suppose he has changed his name. It would be his safest course," replied the director. "Yes, that is what he thought you had done," Eleanor had gone round to her husband's chair and was smoothing out the lines in his forehead. "Dear little comfort," he caught (the hand and kissed it. (To be continued.)

Household Hints

COOKIES.

Ginger Cookies—One cup lard, one and one-half cups dark brown sugar, one cup molasses, pinch salt. Half teaspoon soda dissolved in cup hot coffee, teaspoon ginger. Cream lard, sugar and molasses together, add soda and ginger and salt and enough flour to make dough so it will not stick to board. Use plenty of flour on board and do not make cookies too stiff. Roll thin and cut. Bake in moderate oven. These cookies are fine for lunch, and if kept in covered jar will keep moist for weeks.

Never-Fail Cookies—Two cups coffee, a light brown sugar, creamed with one cup butter and lard, two eggs well beaten, half cup sweet milk, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons baking powder, sufficient flour to roll.

Cold Water Cookies—One-half cup lard or butter, one-half cup brown sugar, one-half cup cold water, one teaspoonful of soda, one half teaspoon boiling water, one teaspoon vanilla, flour enough to make a stiff dough. Let rise over night. After baked, moisten top and sift red or blue sugar on top.

Graham Cookies—One cup sugar, one-half cup butter or lard and one egg creamed, one cup sour milk and dissolve one-half teaspoon soda, add one teaspoon cloves and one teaspoon cinnamon added with one cup white flour and pinch of salt, one teaspoon baking powder added with flour, four enough to make a soft dough. Use white flour on kneading board. Roll and cut cookies and bake.

Double Cookies—Mix two cups granulated sugar, one cup lard, two eggs, one cup sour milk. Sift in this batter three cups flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder and a little nutmeg. But pinch of baking powder, add flour together and add to pieplant. Stir together and fill pie pan. Bake slowly and when done cover with meringue of the whites of two eggs.

Bread Boxes—Cut a long loaf of bread into slices about two inches thick. Dig out the crumbs in the center of each piece, leaving sides and bottom like a box that is made square box of each piece of bread. Brush each box over with melted butter and put in a quick oven until a light brown. Fill with creamed chicken, or any creamed left-over meat or vegetables. Use the bread crumbs for a pudding at the same time.

Creamed Radishes—Four large bunches of radishes, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one third cup evaporated milk, two-thirds cup cold water, salt and pepper to taste. Chop radishes of the even size as possible, wash thoroughly and cook in salt water until tender. Use only enough water to cover or they will lose their flavor, and remove from water as soon as they are tender. Make cream sauce by melting the butter, add flour and stir two minutes over fire. Then add the water, milk and seasonings. Stir until smooth and thick. Pour sauce on radishes and serve as a vegetable. A good way to use a surplus of home grown radishes. Best if used when young.

THE TABLE.

Pieplant Pie With Meringue—Line pie pan and fill with custard pie. Cut pieplant into inch pieces. Wash and drain. Mix one large cup sugar, yolks of two eggs (beaten), pinch of salt, one teaspoon butter, two tablespoons flour together and add to pieplant. Stir together and fill pie pan. Bake slowly and when done cover with meringue of the whites of two eggs.

Bread Boxes—Cut a long loaf of bread into slices about two inches thick. Dig out the crumbs in the center of each piece, leaving sides and bottom like a box that is made square box of each piece of bread. Brush each box over with melted butter and put in a quick oven until a light brown. Fill with creamed chicken, or any creamed left-over meat or vegetables. Use the bread crumbs for a pudding at the same time.

THE OTHER MAN'S HANDICAP.

I was talking the other day to a magazine writer about his work. He had been writing a story and was going to rewrite it the next day. "Which do you like best to do?" I asked, "write or rewrite?" "Like best?" he groaned. "Neither. They're both torture. I don't know which is worse."

"Torture?" I echoed. "Don't you like to write?" "Don't you like to write?" He had to whip his brain all the time. "Does anyone like to lash his mind onto a thing?" he said. "I don't know how it is with other people, but that's what I do. It's a harassing struggle all the time after better expression. Lots of people think a writer just sits down and lets the words flow out of him and then goes out and plays golf. It may be so with some of them, but with me it's just whipping myself on all the time."

"But surely you wouldn't be content to do anything else?" "I wouldn't," he snapped. "There's times when I'd like to go out and dig in the streets and stop whipping my brain. And yet I suppose people envy me because I have a snap—a few hours' light work a day."

He supposed exactly right. That was just what I had been thinking of while he talked—how often I had heard people envy him his snap.

We Don't Know What We Are Talking About.

I think we are always envying people their ease or happiness, always saying, "If I were in her place, I'd do so-and-so," when we don't really know that their lives are as easy or happy as we don't know what we would do in their places, don't know what their particular hardships or troubles are.

The first time I ever went snowshoeing I had a suggestive little experience. There was another woman in the party who was also new to the sport and she was very slow and very awkward.

I could not understand why she found it so hard. It seemed surprisingly easy to me. "She hasn't the strength," I thought to myself. "There's something the matter with my snowshoes," she explained when we got home, "they keep falling off."

Confident of my ability to manage

"SPIRIT OF '76" SHOWS IN NEW BONNET

The "Paul Revere" bonnet and the latest martial coat.

There never was any question of the courage that sent Paul Revere to awaken the minute men of Lexington and Concord, and few people question the fact that the hat he wore on that dangerous ride should serve as a model for one of the most becoming hats of the season. This "Paul Revere" bonnet resembles the one worn by the famous hero. It is of velvet felt, abushite colored, trimmed with fancy ribbon and a signal corps insignia. Mihadi also wears the latest martial coat.

HERE'S HOW TO MAKE WAR BREAD

New York, May 30.—War bread is being made at the Park Avenue and Martha Washington hotels here today at a cost of three cents for a loaf weighing one and one-half pounds. It will be served to guests on request.

This particular kind of war bread can be made best where there is considerable waste from standard loaves. The crusts and cuttings which were formerly wasted are soaked in water, boiled, pulverized through a sieve and mixed in a dough with flour, salt and yeast, then baked like ordinary bread.

As applied to the family kitchen, the formula would work with a pound of bread crumbs, four cups of flour, water, salt and half a yeast cake for six loaves weighing a pound each.

The Business of Living

Douglas's Sense of Humor Fails to Respond to the Fun in the Present Situation

Eleanor was listening for her husband's step on the walk with great anxiety. He had gone away in the car of the officer, under the character of bigamy. He had assured her on leaving that he would not be gone long and the officer had confirmed his statement, saying that it was necessary to put up a necessary bail for her. She would be back in a couple of hours. She had even the children and the supper and put them to bed. The house was very still and every sound from the street made her start nervously. After what seemed a long time, a faint knock came. "What about it?" she asked anxiously.

"I had to call up the manager of the business to ask for bail."

"Oh, Douglas!" exclaimed Eleanor. She knew that there was no intimacy between her husband and the manager. "Was there no one else to ask?"

"I could not think of any one I preferred to ask. One reason why I chose him was because he would have to know about the affair anyway, for I shall have to get away to the trial or hearing or whatever they call it," Douglas dropped wearily into a chair.

"You are all used up, dear. Come and have your dinner. I have kept it warm for you. You can tell me about it while you eat. He slipped his arm around her and they proceeded to the kitchen.

"If only Bertram had been here,"

CIVIL ENGINEER

He could see far up and around the crooked course of the Picket Wire. The big grass-covered, but otherwise bare and treeless hogback, that ran from the upper end of the stone island of the mesa was equally visible to him. As it was the low tide of the new reservoir, he descended to it and studied it carefully. On another occasion, having said nothing to anyone about his excursion, he took advantage of a half-holiday to go out and inspect the hogback and ascertain its elevation with relation to the dam. Of course the engineers who planned the great irrigation works had done that, but he wanted to do it for himself. At one place, where the distance between what might be called the edge of the valley and the head of the ravine was narrow, indeed, he estimated after pacing it that it measured not over twenty feet across—he discovered that the rounded earth crest was slightly lower than the intended level of the top of the dam.

When he returned to the office, he found on examining the construction drawings that an earth dike was planned to run along the hogback so that the top level should be higher than that of the dam. This dike would be only a hundred and fifty feet long and a few feet high, and could be built in a few days' time. Work on the main dam being more important, nothing had as yet been done on the dike.

Meade had been promoted toward the end of the fall and in a rather unusual way. One of the transit men, a young engineer, got a better job and left his instrument. Vandeventer called Meade before him.

"Roberts," he said, "there's a vacancy for a transit man. You've done such good work so far and shown such familiarity with fieldwork, that I'd give it to you if I had any idea that you knew anything about handling instruments."

"I think I may be trusted with one, sir," answered Meade, his eyes brightening.

"Yes, perhaps; but I have watched you to add hours. The young men around here are constantly practicing with the transits. I've never seen you put a hand to one. How about it?"

"I'm not exactly a youngster, Mr. Vandeventer," returned Meade, "and I really didn't think it necessary to practice, but if you trust me with one I believe I can manage it."

Old Vandeventer leaned back in his chair in the office and looked carefully at Meade from head to toe. Suddenly he began humming a little scrap of verse about another college which Cambridge men sing with zest:

I'm a physical wreck,
From the grand old Tech,
But a— of an engineer!

EVEN WHISKERS, LIFE'S MOST USELESS DECORATION, CAN HELP A LITTLE NOW.

He stopped abruptly, whirled about in his swivel chair, and shot a quick glance at Meade. It was a trap. And as he sprang it Vandeventer surprised the ghost of a smile, repressed quickly but there, on Meade's lips. The chief engineer was satisfied. Before this, little things had betrayed a fellow alumnus, or at least a fellow student of the old Lawrence Scientific school. Vandeventer was pleased at his adroitness. He did not, however, refer to it.

"There's a new transit in that box on the floor there," he said, resuming his indifferent manner. "I've had the case opened, but I haven't taken it out. Get it, and we'll go outside and see what you can do with it."

Now a transit, for all it is used in rough fieldwork, is one of the most expensive and delicate of instruments. It is capable of the most accurate adjustment, and if it is to be of any real use, the refinement of these adjustments must not be impaired in any degree by unskilled and reckless packing. The boxes in which the instruments are shipped are very carefully constructed in accordance with the principles which experience has shown to be necessary, and each one is especially fitted to the particular instrument to be contained therein. The box is a complicated thing and the transit cannot be taken out or replaced except in one way. With a knowledge of the combination, so to speak, it is comparatively simple to take a transit from the box; without that knowledge, which none but an expert transitman, or the packer himself can have, it is rather difficult without running a risk of ruining the instrument.

This command was another of Vandeventer's tests, therefore. Meade knew this as well as his superior. In spite of himself, he would have to betray his familiarity. Well, he had brought himself to the conclusion that he could not continue his work without very soon disclosing the fact that he had been an engineer. And in case of the inevitable, the sooner the better. So long as he had to betray himself, he would have all the advantages as well as the disadvantages. He unlocked the door of the box, slid the instrument out quickly, accurately, without a moment's hesitation, and rapidly unscrewed the head from the slide-board, and screwed it carefully on the tripod. Vandeventer's eyes sparkled.

"Come outside," he said, leading the way to the side of the hill. "and set it up there over the tack in that stake and level it."

Beginners have been known to take ten minutes to get a transit set up, leveled and centered. It is good work if it is done inside of a minute; thirty seconds is very fast. In forty-five seconds Meade reported, "all ready, sir." He could have done it in less, but he was a little out of practice, he said to himself.

"Look here," said Vandeventer, "you can't pull any more bluff on me, Roberts; you're an engineer, all right."

"I know something about the practical side of it, sir," answered Meade, turning a little pale and wondering how far Vandeventer would press his questions and what he would learn. But the engineer was a man.

"Practical, yes, and theoretical too. I'll be bound, but I don't seek to try into your antecedents. It's enough for me if you do good work for me here."

"I'll do my best, sir."

"Good; the instrument is yours."

That was the first step and the next step came very shortly after, when,

having further demonstrated his capacity in other ways, Meade was given charge of the work on the east end of the dam.

"I don't care who he is," said Vandeventer to his chief subordinate, "he knows what he's about, and if you watch him you'll see. He's keen on handling men. The other section foremen will be hard put to keep up with him. He keeps watch on himself. He doesn't mingle with the crowd, but every once in a while something slips out. What he doesn't know about engineering nobody needs to know, I'll wager."

"How do you account for his being out here?"

"Oh, it's the old story, I suppose; he's come a cropper somewhere—down and out and wants to begin again, and can't do anything but this. It's not our business, Stafford; he does good work for us and we're satisfied."

CHAPTER XIV.

The Former and the Latter Rain.

The work on the dam was progressing splendidly. Vandeventer, driving his men hard, shared in all their furious efforts. He was not only their leader, but their inspiration. He had surrounded himself with a body of able assistants, and his teamsters and workmen had been culled until they had become a small army of picked men of which to be proud.

Among all these Meade stood very high. In the four months he had been with Vandeventer he had shown such a grasp of things, such an ability to handle men, in one or two instances when, with intention to try him, the resident engineer had given him charge of some special work, that Vandeventer unconsciously looked to him in any emergency. He actually found himself consulting Meade on occasion.

He had accompanied the younger man on one of those rambles which he had hitherto taken alone. He had not broken down Meade's reserve, but he had won his admiration and regard.

Vandeventer was not unknown in engineering circles. In earthwork he was by way of being an authority. His experience had been varied and extensive. Meade's reserve and reticence rather hurt the older engineer. He had invited confidence and had even given his affection. He intuitively felt that if the other were under a cloud Vandeventer might be in a position to help him.

It was fortunate for Meade's purpose of concealment, for his incoherence, that most of his engineering work had been done abroad and that he had been out of touch with American engineering for practically the whole of his career. Vandeventer was a Harvard man, too, and that made it especially hard for Meade to keep from betraying himself. As a matter of fact, the younger man actually longed to make a clean breast of it, but he could not quite bring himself to do it yet. That might come later.

Three months ought to see the completion of the dam and the long canal, which was to carry the stored water to the irrigation ditches below. Vandeventer was already making plans for another big job, and he had decided, in his own mind, that among the subordinates whom he would take with him the newcomer should have the first chance. Vandeventer felt proud and satisfied when he surveyed the work that had been accomplished in the six months of labor. To be sure the delay in the completion of the spillway disquieted him a little.

The dam had reached the spillway level a fortnight before, and had now passed it. Indeed, on the fifth of January the dam builders were within five feet of the top; that is, the crest of the dam was 120 feet above the level of the valley. They had planned to run the spillway around the eastern end of the dam. The rock drills and dynamite which had been ordered had finally arrived in December, and by putting as many as possible to work on the spillway Vandeventer had succeeded in opening it for its entire width to an average depth of about seven feet below the intended top of the dam; that is, it was now about two feet deeper than the actual crest of the dam, but it still lacked five feet of its designed depth.

Dinner Stories

He was a busy dermatologist—so busy that he had no time to watch patients disrobe—and demanded that all clothing be removed before the patients came into the room. He had just dismissed a case of pityriasis rosea and called for the next patient. A long, shuffling person entered the room and said:

"Doctor, I—

"That's all right," said the specialist. "Just keep quiet and I'll look you over. Now, where's the trouble?"

"I am selling P—s vaccines," said the patient, and then he looked at the doctor and said, "I got my clothes off."

"Yes," said a traveling man. "I was once out of sight of land on the Atlantic ocean twenty-one days."

Another man spoke up: "On the Pacific ocean one time I didn't see land for twenty-nine days."

A bald man knocked the ashes from his cigar and contributed his bit.

"I started across the Kaw river at Topeka in a skiff once," he said, "and I was out of sight of land before I reached the other side."

"What?" demanded the man who had spun the first yarn. "The Kaw is not more than 300 feet wide at Topeka."

"Quite true," said the bald man quietly. "The skiff turned over and I sank twice."

"Ah, my darling, what matters it that sorrow and trouble must of necessity be lurking in the unknown future? While I am with you I think of nothing but the present—the beautiful superb present."

"So do I, dearest; but you'll take me with you when you buy it, won't you? Men have such queer taste in rings."

GEORGE I ADORE YOU! BE MINE!

ER—I'LL HAVE TO THINK IT OVER!

AND HE DID!

RECRUITING OFFICE

Customer—The poison must be excellent, but the rats won't take it. You'll have to make it more tasty. Druggist—I've tried that already, but the apprentice boys eat it.—Flegende Blat-ter.

"MY COMPANY FIRST," THE RECRUIT'S MOTTO

By CAPTAIN GEORGE L. KILMER.

After the war novice has taken his stand on the motto "My country first!" and prepares to fight for it he must face the call of another slogan less appealing at the start, but one to grow on him—"My company first!" This company fealty is his everyday job. He must work for that as ceaselessly as he studied and worked at school for the honor of his school or his ball club or team.

Getting down to the company plane of thought and action plays havoc with imaginary ideals. But right here the individual is put to test as a soldier. The officers and the crowd "size" him up. Culture and manners are respected provided the novice makes good at coarse work, trench digging, hiking and running, as well as at drill and on parade.

Lacking a chance at hand practice with ax or spade, the beginner can make progress by the simple process of club swinging movements. Club swinging develops muscles of limb, chest, abdomen and back. Help may be had also by horizontal bar exercises, jumping and climbing. In company work, which is enlarged teamwork, the importance of these things appears. Some of the numbers will be expert at one thing and set a standard for all to train up to. The recruit with his specialty will be a teacher for others and learn from others wherein he lacks. Here comes into play the faculty of attention. Every man knows his own failings and the merits of another.

After being four years tied up in a close coil a saw of vanadium steel was released and the treatment found to have influenced its shape very slightly.

To Prevent Old Age Coming Too Soon!

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such products. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little Anuric.

When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little Anuric from your nearest druggist and notice the grand results. You will find it many times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

Mississippi Fossil Plants. A peculiar sandstone, which geologists have called the Catahoula sandstone, has been studied with care in Mississippi by the United States Geological survey. Among the plants found were pines, ferns, leaves of a tree, palms, tropical myrtles, figs, and a tree closely related to the present-day Mexican and Central American Sapota, from which most of the material for chewing gum is obtained. These fossil plants show that at the time the sandstone was formed—perhaps five million years ago—the climate of this region was tropical, and bones of camels found by other geologists and the similarity of the sand composing the sandstone to certain tropical desert sands have a similar implication.

Vassar to Revive Daisy Chain. The time-honored daisy chain procession, which for 50 years was the big feature of the class day exercises at Vassar college and which was abandoned last June, is to be revived. After a controversy covering many weeks the students have voted to go back to the old custom, and as in the past select the 24 prettiest members of the sophomore class to carry the chain. The students have concluded the alleged bitterness caused by the selection of the two dozen prettiest sophomores as daisy chain girls under the old system was more imaginary than real.

Maybe There is a Cause For It That You Can Correct. Many who suffer from backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable, fretful and nervous. Not only does constant backache "eat out" the nerves and nervous system, but it also eliminates all the uric acid from the system, and uric acid irritates the nerves, keeping one "on edge," and causing rheumatic, neuralgic pains. When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the medicine so well recommended by Janesville people. Read this Janesville resident's statement:

Mrs. Otto Bork, 318 Galena St., says: "Every once in a while I suffered from attacks of backache. It hurt me to lift anything and I had headaches and nervous spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did me a great deal of good. The nervous spells left me and I was rid of the backache and pains through my loins."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bork had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

City Eye Specialists Tell How To Strengthen Eyesight 50% In a Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Boston, Mass.—Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that Doctors and Eye Specialists now agree there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using this:

"I was almost blind. Could not see to read, at all. Now I can read every line without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they are clear all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even the print in the street now. Which for several years I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now, and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now. Which for several years I have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses.

Dr. Beck, an eye specialist of nearly twenty years practice, says: "A patient came to me who was suffering from Biphthalmia Marginalis with all the concomitant symptoms of morning aggratation of the lids, chronic conjunctivitis and epiphora. Her eyes when not congested had the dull, staring expression common to such cases. Having run out of her medicine a friend suggested Bon-Opto. She had been put aside my glasses without discomfort. Several of my colleagues also used it and we are agreed as to its results. In a few days, under my observation, the eyes of an astigmatic case were so improved that glasses have been discarded by the patient."

Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of Bon-Opto and if you want to strengthen your eyes, go to any drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid rub the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to relieve them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: A city physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Yes, Bon-Opto is a remarkable eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or night glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, burning, itching eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. It is a potent medicine or secret remedy. It is an excellent preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances, or refund the money. It is dispensed by all good druggists in this city, including People's Drug Co., and all other prominent druggists."

Dr. Conner says: "My eyes were in bad condition owing to the severe strain arising from protracted microscopical work. Bon-Opto used according to directions rendered a surprising service. I found my eyes remarkably relieved. Much so I have put aside my glasses without discomfort. Several of my colleagues also used it and we are agreed as to its results. In a few days, under my observation, the eyes of an astigmatic case were so improved that glasses have been discarded by the patient."

"Sound" Criticism.

The editor of the Merrytown Mail received a complimentary copy of a musical composition from a friend who desired a favorable criticism of his work. This is what appeared in the next issue:

"As the editor of this journal doesn't know a demi-semiquaver from a diapason or a bass clef from a 'high C,' he will not therefore be expected to give an extended notice of this production. We can say, however, that the type used in printing the composition is clear and plain, and that the paper appears to be of the best quality of rag. The design on the front page is most artistic, and the words are as tender as a real spring chicken and as poetic as the song of the meadow lark on a May morning. The melody is sound and all right. The harmony, too, appears to be strictly O. K. with no patent defects or noticeable blemishes. The tonality is clear and resonant, and rests on harmonic relations and melodic elements. This is about all the praise in connection with said composition we are able to evolve from our cabbage-flavored temperament."

WORLD WAR LEAGUE STAGES BALL GAMES BACK OF TRENCHES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

British Headquarters in France, via London Staff Correspondent of Associated Press, May 30.—The old adage of "all work and no play" has its application in war as well as in peace. The baseball season on the western front is in full swing. Under the very shadow of Vimy Ridge a great game was played yesterday afternoon with an all khaki audience on a bit of battlefield on which shell holes had been filled in and a rough grandstand erected for officers and other spectators, including General Horne, commanding the first British army, who has become an enthusiastic fan. The game was between teams representing two Canadian brigades. As a matter of fact, all teams in what may be called the World War League are now composed of representatives of numerous Canadian brigades, and all the players are anxiously awaiting arrival of the American forces to arrange for an interleague series.

The second Canadian brigade beat the third 7 to 1. The second brigade had a great left handed pitcher, whose deliveries the third brigade batters could not solve at all. The third brigade team also had a box man who formerly played with Ottawa in the Canadian league. The catcher was unable to hold his delivery well, and this accounted for many of the runs scored by the winning side. The game was remarkably free from errors considering the battlefield diamond on which it was played. All equipment had been brought from America, including base bags.

As a side show it was possible from the grandstand to see an occasional shell dropping half a mile or so away. Aeroplanes were humming overhead, but assuming them friendly, no one looked their way except when a fly ball happened to be hit.

There was typical rooting by the Canadians and Americans among the khaki clad spectators, and much wagging on the game. One subaltern bet enough, he said, to pay his expenses on a three weeks tour in Paris, but he chose the wrong side and his leave was indefinitely postponed. The games are played twice a week in this strange of all baseball leagues.

In subscribing $100,000 for Liberty bonds, the American league managers have displayed commendable patriotism and enterprise. Of course the National league men will do the same.

FISH SEASON IS ON; STREAMS LURE MANY

Perhaps the greatest secret of the baseball success of Fielder Jones in the management of major league clubs lies in the psychic effect of certain things he mixes in with the regular run of the game.

Jones more than any other man in the game knows and appreciates the fact that baseball players are just a wee bit more prone to view the suppurating side of a four leaf clover or a rabbit's foot more than the average human. He is well aware that Eddie Collins does funny little things with the button on top of his cap when he reaches the two-thirds stage of time at bat. Also he knows that a baseball player who pretends to any temperance at all beats it for the water bucket after a strikeout, and whether he needs it or not this baseball player always takes a drink.

Jones knows these things and he knows the moral effect of other things.

When the White Sox visited St. Louis this spring they made the trip with advance notices pointing them out as the logical successors of the Red Sox for the American league championship. They had a great baseball club and were given plenty of newspaper space. Jones' most predominant doing after the Sox had departed was to star publicly that he believed the White Sox lacked the proper kind of nerve to win a major league pennant. He advanced the theory that the Browns could and would outgame the White Sox every time they met.

Jones went further in his statements. He pointed out that Risberg, a youngster, was not playing the best game in the world, and declared this would unbalance an otherwise finely constructed team. He said that with Risberg continuing in his errorfull way the Sox would not only lose confidence in him but in themselves, and then the crack would come.

As a matter of fact, there hasn't been a better appearing shortstop sent as a big league visitor for many a day. Risberg merely got away to a bad start. But Jones' statement had its effect, just as he thought it would. It got the Sox to wondering if he was right, and the first thing they knew the worders were hurting them. They are just beginning to recover their equilibrium.

Eddie Garner, when he got going, looks like a real pitcher with the Montreal Royals and if he keeps it up he will be back in the big show. Perhaps Manager Mathewson of the Reds really wishes he were there right now.

WAR RELIEF GAME AT BELOIT TODAY LURE TO HUNDREDS

Janesville Sends Big Delegation and Line City Goes Wild Over Prospects of Old Rivals Meeting Again.

Prospects of a ducking failed to scare out a big delegation of Janesville baseball fans and at noon today when the Cardinals left for Beloit, where they meet the speedy Fairies at Morse field at three o'clock this afternoon, there was a large following. Many more fans made the trip by automobile. At noon it appeared that the Cards would have considerable backing when they take the field.

All receipts from the game, grandstand, programs and sales will be turned over to a war relief for soldiers. Ninety percent of the income will go to the aid of building a U. S. A. war camp and the other remaining ten will be donated to the Red Cross. Always backed by Beloit people in every enterprise, the Fairbanks-Morse Athletic association today has given even more encouragement as they are putting on the game and guaranteeing all expense. From the spirit that the Line City has shown since announcement of the game war since it is indicative that the crowd at the ball game will be the largest in the history of Beloit baseball.

The enthusiasm over the ball game is vividly shown by the Beloit Daily News of last night. An extra fly page was printed in red, white and blue, a large American flag centering the page, and both editorial and editorial boosting for attendance at the war relief game. There was a picture of the type of army shack to be built with the funds obtained at the game was a full page advertisement in the national colors urging attendance to the game and the increasing of the membership of the Beloit Red Cross chapter.

PSYCHOLOGY HAS ITS EFFECT IN BASEBALL

The man with the brand new hip boots, the brand new steel rod, the glistering reel and the book full of latest lures, was the most envied person in the state today.

However, when dusk comes along, he may not feel so foxy. It is barely possible that the lad with the willow stick, the Junebug or angle-worm and raggedy pants will come home with his hat full of fish and the envied one with a soiled mind.

Bass and other game fish were subject to the invitation of anyone having the accoutrements and nerve to step forth into the wilderness and match lures today. The season was officially opened for all manner of game fish with the exception of a few counties.

Other fish have been in open season since the first of May by special act of the legislature. They are termed "rough" fish. However, the game fish which abound in practically all lakes and streams of the state are the most sought after and furnish some of the greatest outdoor sport in the world.

The "game" fish in Wisconsin, as distinguished from the rough fish, are of brook, rainbow, grayling and brown trout; black, green, yellow, Oswego, silver, white, strawberry or calico bass; crappie, pike, catfish, pickerel, muskellunge and sturgeon.

Sport Snap Shots

—MORRIS MILLER

One of the Pirates' most promising youngsters is Lee King, who is playing in the outfield. King is a native of Monongah, W. Va., and is a coal miner by trade. He began his professional career on the ball field with the Wheeling club last year and ended up a batting average of .316. King talks, eats and sleeps baseball. He is a bright chap and bristles with confidence. Somebody asked him the other day if he saw any difference between major and minor league ball. "There's no difference except in the pitching," replied King. "Where I played last year the pitchers used one ball for each game. I was up against the spitter or the emery 20 the time. In this league the umpire throws out a new pill every minute. That makes it easier to get the bingles, for you can see the white ones."

Frank Coe has created the role of emergency catcher of the Western Association circuit. For the last two seasons he has been getting on with various teams of the circuit on account of a crippled condition behind the bat, only to be released when the emergency was passed up, finding another club in need of his services. He was signed by Fort Smith when Lourey jumped the team, but released when it was known that the collegian was on his way back. Denison wired for him to join that club at once, as Tex Merritt had met with an accident that would keep him out of the game some time.

The fan or expert who before the present season started would have dared to predict that after six weeks of the campaign, Bill Wynn's name would be giving Tris Speaker a hot battle for the batting leadership would have been laughed at. He would have received a nomination for a high office in any of the country's insane asylums, but he would have had the right dope. Bill is sec-

C. K. G. BILLINGS TO SELL ALL BUT UHLAN AND LOU DILLON AND QUIT GAME

C. K. G. Billings riding Uhlán.

C. K. G. Billings, the wealthy turfman and owner of what is perhaps the greatest stable of thoroughbred horses ever owned by one breeder, plans to sell all of his horses except Uhlán, 1:58, and Lou Dillon, 1:58 1/2, and retire from the light harness game.

and in the list of regulars, trailing the great and only Spoke by eleven points.

Outfielder Billy Nixon, who was to figure in the trade between New Orleans and Milwaukee by which the Pelicans got Walter Eckersall, Nixon and Ward McDowell to go to the Brewers, has refused to report to Milwaukee and has returned to his home in Pittsburg, where he will take employment with a steel company and play independent ball.

The Rochester club has purchased Pitcher Joe Lotz from the St. Paul American Association club, which had secured him from the St. Louis Cardinals. Rochester also secured Lorne Kirby from St. Paul and it was on his recommendation that Lotz was landed.

Newark's great strength so far has been in its pitching, for which, without a doubt, wise old Tom Needham is responsible. Like Mitchell of the Chicago Cubs, Needham seems to have made mediocre pitchers perform like stars.

President Hickey of the American Association was supposed to have his headquarters in Louisville, but one Louisville scribe complains that he seems to spend most of his time handling the affairs of the Association from his "office" in Minneapolis.

A maximum salary limit of $250 a month for Association players, as proposed by Mike Cantillon, would affect 80 per cent of contracts, according to one American Association estimate. On some of the clubs practically every contract calls for more than that amount.

Garry Herrmann and (President Hickey of the American Association are receiving a panning for talking about reducing baseball expenses before there are signs of trouble.

Roumanian Courtesy.
The Roumanians are among the handsomest races in Europe, but that, says a correspondent of the London Telegraph, is only a part of their fascination. Some enthusiasts have said that the ladies of Bukharest "combine the beauty of the Hungarian, the grace of the Austrian and the wit and style of the Parisian." But still we have not all the truth. It is the distinction and kindness of the manners of Bukharest which mark it out among the cities of the world. No one ever found there anything but courtesy. Many have pronounced the people the politest on earth, and the politeness is not a matter of civility or readiness to oblige, but a high bred distinction of manner.
